

The opening ceremony of the 2011 World University Games in Shenzhen, China started with "Burning the Books".(screenshot)

It certainly fits well with communist party ideology.

Once a Chinese high official suggested: "Chairman Mao has already found the truth of this world, and his words are the truth. So why do we need any more books? we may just read Chairman Mao's book, and get rid of all other books!?"

