Deng Yujiao, a 20 year old girl, who fought against forced rape by three communist officials and stabbed one of the officials to death with a pedicure knife, is secretly being force fed with mind altering drugs at an undisclosed location. She had previously been in Wuhan Psychiatric Hospital and then at her home where she was under a form of house arrest. A Chinese official revealed what he had witnessed to a close contact.

According to Chinese language website Renminbao , an insider revealed: “Deng Yujiao’s condition is very sad, she is locked up in a place (he could not reveal now), and is force fed lots of drugs that are harmful to the nervous system. There are people supervising her taking the tablets, and they even check her mouth to make sure she swallowed the medicine. If she resists, they just hit her, no matter whether she cries or screams. She will turn into a real psychotic not long from now.”

This senior officer said that Zhou Yongkang, a Politburo member, and head of the Central Political and Administrative Committee, is extremely angry with Deng Yujiao and the ‘trouble’ caused through her case, and told officials that they are to turn Deng into a real psychotic, so she will not be able to tell the truth in the future.

This senior officer felt very sad and also could not understand what purpose Zhou Yongkang is trying to achieve.

Ever since Deng Yujiao’s case was exposed by Chinese bloggers through the internet, Chinese people have understood that Deng’s life is over, under the rule of the Chinese regime.

The communist regime will never allow Deng to receive justice, because Deng’s rebellion, and similar cases like that of Yang Jia will validate the rights of Chinese people, which are suppressed by the communist regime. So not giving Deng a death sentence but pardoning her due to her alleged mental status, is a warning to Chinese people that you shall not resist communist officials under any circumstance.
